

Department of Justice Select CorePension

The Department of Justice, Equality and Law Reform has selected CorePension to manage the Department's critical pension requirements.

The Department of Justice, Equality and Law Reform is at the centre of the Criminal Justice System with responsibilities for the Garda Síochána, the Prisons and the Courts. The Department is also responsible for public policies in relation to crucial and sensitive issues such as national security, law enforcement in respect of all criminal activity, treatment of offenders, immigration and asylum seekers.

A key requirement for The Department of Justice was to manage multiple, layered and defined-benefit pension schemes with a single integrated solution that can be configured to their complex pension rules. The CorePension solution provides a wide range of administrative tools designed to help increase staff efficiency in tracking and completing pension assignments and responding to member enquiries. By capturing all pensionable service and salary related information in a friendly and dynamic fashion CorePension can provide comprehensive real time statements in an accurate, flexible and timely fashion.

The proposed solution CorePension is fully integrated with CorePay currently being used by the Department of Justice, Equality and Law Reform.

This Contract further strengthens Core's position as Ireland's foremost provider of HR solutions to leading organisations and is testimony to our commitment to catering for the ongoing requirements of our clients.
